Introduction

These annotation guidelines were developed within the scope of the CitiLink – Enhancing Municipal Transparency and Citizen Engagement through AI: From Unstructured to Structured Data project (https://citilink.inesctec.pt/). The project aims to develop an automatic system that facilitates access to and understanding of City Council meeting minutes.

More specifically, CitiLink seeks to transform the free text of these minutes into structured and concise summaries. The system identifies the topics discussed, organises them according to areas of municipal competence, and captures the positions taken by municipal representatives during deliberations.

A functional prototype has been developed to support citizens, journalists, and policymakers in accessing and navigating the information contained in the minutes. The project is carried out in partnership with six Portuguese municipalities: Alandroal, Campo Maior, Covilhã, Fundão, Guimarães, and Porto.

This manual establishes the linguistic and methodological criteria for annotating City Council meeting minutes, ensuring consistency, reliability, and interoperability across annotators and datasets, while guiding the concise and accurate expression of each segment's central idea.

In particular, the manual provides guidelines for:

i. identifying discussion-subject segments in the minutes; and
ii. producing accurate, consistent, and concise summaries for each segment.

Discussion-subject segments correspond to portions of the minutes that describe what was discussed and deliberated under each item of the meeting agenda. For each segment, annotators must first determine the theme, defined as the central focus of the discussion. The theme is identified prior to the summarisation stage and serves as input to it.

The manual thus serves both as a methodological reference and as a practical guide for the annotation and curation processes conducted by the linguistics team.

A. Personal Information

Definition: a text segment containing personal data. “Personal data” is defined as “any information, of any nature and regardless of its medium, including sound and image, relating to an identified or identifiable natural person (‘data subject’); an identifiable person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identification number or to one or more factors specific to their physical, physiological, psychological, economic, cultural or social identity,” according to the Lexionário of the Diário da República (https://diariodarepublica.pt/dr/lexionario/ termo/dados-pessoais).

Personal data may appear in the form of proper nouns (full or partial), addresses, civil identification numbers, vehicle registration plates, property references, internal municipal document management references, etc., of individuals whose mention may be associated with topics such as building permits, authorization requests, allocation of social housing, or other administrative decisions involving ownership or direct personal interest. They may also consist of combinations of several pieces of information that, taken together, allow indirect identification of an individual.

This annotation aims to ensure that personal data can be automatically processed in later anonymization and post-processing phases.

Markable: the markable corresponds to any textual element that may directly or indirectly identify an individual. This includes proper nouns (whether full or partial), dates, times, addresses, job titles and departments, personal data, phone numbers, administrative identifiers, vehicle license plates, vehicles, companies or institutions, locations, professions, artistic activities, academic degrees, faculties and universities, family relationships, as well as any other information that could potentially enable the identification of that individual.

When determining the markable, apply the following criteria:

- Annotate all occurrences in the agenda (“ordem do dia”) and metadata sections, even if repeated within the annotated text segment;
- Do not annotate as personal information the names of members of the Municipal Executive (mayor, deputy mayor, or councilors);
- Each instance of personal information will be assigned one of the predefined categories, according to the nature of the segment being annotated.

C. Agenda

Definition: Item discussed and/or deliberated in the meeting's agenda.

Markable: text segment introducing a new item on the agenda. Annotate each time a new agenda item occurs. If present, the numbering or punctuation mark to the left of the item and the final punctuation mark (colon, semicolon, etc.) to the right are included in the segment being annotated.

D. Subject

Definition: set of information that structures and organizes the items discussed and/or deliberated during the council meeting. Only the subjects discussed as part of the agenda items will be considered. Each subject includes four components: boundary, topic, theme, and summary.

I. Entity structures

- D.1. Boundary

Definition: text segment in which the subject is discussed.

- Attributes:
  - Start
    Markable: The first word, number, abbreviation, or acronym (including the final period in the acronym, if present, e.g., I.P.) in the body of the text where a given subject begins to be discussed. Include all punctuation marks (parentheses, quotation marks, dash) and/or numbering to the left of the text segment being annotated.
  - End
    Markable: the last word, number, abbreviation, symbol (e.g., €), acronym (including the final period in the acronym, if present, e.g., I.P.), or complete link (e.g., https://plantasonline.cm-covilha.pt/geoportal) of the segment that addresses a given subject. Include all punctuation marks (parentheses, quotation marks, dash, period) to the right of the text segment being annotated.

Annotation note: there may be cases where the start markable is contained within the agenda item markable (see (26)).

Examples (markable underlined):

(25) 1. Minute [start] of the public meeting of the Municipal Executive held on 2 May 2022.
Approved unanimously by those present at the public meeting of the Municipal Executive held on 2 May 2022. [end]
Aprovada, por unanimidade, pelos presentes na reunião pública do Executivo Municipal de 2 de maio de 2022.)

(26) [1. Minutes [start] of the public meeting of the Municipal Executive held on 2 May 2022.]agenda item
(PT: 1. Ata da reunião pública do Executivo Municipal de 2 de maio de 2022.)

- D.2. Topic

Definition: domain or area of competence to which the subject described in the annotated text segment pertains.

Markable: the text segment most similar to the agenda item. To establish the markable, consider the following criteria:

- The segment should be as close as possible to the paragraph containing the deliberation(s). If not possible, annotate the segment introducing a new subject in the body of the text or, alternatively, the agenda item itself. In these cases, the same segment may correspond simultaneously to both the agenda item and the topic markables and must be annotated twice, once for each parameter (cf. (27)).
- When more than one deliberation occurs under the same subject, annotate the segment encompassing everything deliberated, regardless of location in the text, provided it is outside the paragraph(s) containing the deliberations (see object of vote link).
- Annotators must NOT include in the markable the verb expressing the subject's main eventuality; this verb must instead be represented in the Theme through a nominalization (see D.3, below: cf. (28)).
- Nominalizations referring to the subject's main eventuality may be included in the markable (cf. (28) and (29)).
- Do not annotate topics/themes in the agenda index (or other topic/theme lists, if present) — only annotate in the body of the text where the subject is actually discussed and deliberated.

- Annotate only the topics/themes of the subjects described in the agenda (typically shown in bold, uppercase, and/or numbered in the PDF/Word minutes).
- If present, the final punctuation mark (colon, semicolon, etc.) is NOT included in the annotated segment.
- Personal information in the markable (e.g., names of individuals) must be replaced by citizen/citizens in the theme description (see section A. Personal information; D.3.) and annotated accordingly.
- When present, the closing paragraph of the meeting (e.g., "At eleven fifty, the mayor declared the meeting closed, for the record of which this minute was drawn up.") should NOT be considered a topic markable, even if it contains references to administrative or procedural actions.

Example:

(27) 1. Minute of the public meeting of the Municipal Executive held on 2 May 2022. [agenda item/subject]
(PT: 1. Ata da reunião pública do Executivo Municipal de 2 de maio de 2022.)

Tópico anotado (D.2.): ordenamento de trânsito no Acesso Norte - Teixoso)

(29) Deliberation paragraph: The City Council took note and unanimously deliberated to approve the proposal presented. (Granting of financial support – Santa Casa da Misericórdia do Fundão)
Annotated topic (D.2.): Granting of financial support – Santa Casa da Misericórdia do Fundão

Notes:

- Financial support measures, as well as fees and licenses, must be categorized under the attribute "General Administration, Finance and Human Resources" and the specific topic(s) corresponding to the subject under discussion. Whenever the text makes explicit reference to final accounts, calculations, prices, etc., it should also be categorized under "General Administration, Finance and Human Resources" and, where applicable, under the attribute(s) directly related to the subject matter.

  Examples:
    - Final account of the school rehabilitation contract: "General Administration, Finance and Human Resources," "Public Works," and "Education and Vocational Training";
    - Setting/fixing of ticket prices for the cultural center: "General Administration, Finance and Human Resources" and "Culture";
    - Allocation of financial support to a cycling association: "General Administration, Finance and Human Resources" and "Sports."
- A single subject may fall under two or more topics simultaneously. In such cases, all relevant categories must be annotated to ensure a comprehensive representation of the deliberation.

  Examples:
    - Preparation and approval of land-use plans: Land Use Regime Map, depending on environmental protection: double annotation with the topics "Spatial Planning" and "Environment";

- Approval of contracts, procurements, and management of road construction projects: double annotation with the topics "Public Works" and "Traffic, Transport, and Communications";
- Restoration of castles/fortresses — double annotation with the topics "Public Works" and "Heritage."

- D.3. Theme

Definition: concise and standardized formulation of the main content of the subject in question. The theme may coincide with the textual segment annotated for the topic (cf. D.2), but it must be written as an informative title, based on the content of the annotated segment and on the wording used in the minutes.

Markable: the same text segment as the topic (cf. D.2). The text should be written in the free text box according to the following criteria:

- Wording — general considerations:
  - Concise and informative titles, up to 15 words;
  - The theme (title) should be constructed to minimize ambiguity, ensuring that it is understandable and easily distinguishable from other annotated subjects;
  - Create the theme based on the identified subject, using the vocabulary from the minutes whenever possible; when the topic's markable does not allow for full contextualization of the theme, draw on the wording used in the agenda item or in the deliberation paragraph(s);
  - Favor the use of the most general (holonym) term to identify the object of the subject, without compromising overall understanding;
  - Modifiers that characterize the object of the subject in a specific or technical way should be omitted or simplified whenever their inclusion compromises conciseness or exceeds the word limit;
  - Special cases: whenever the phrase "Municipality of [city/municipality name]" refers to the municipality where the meeting takes place (i.e., the municipality of the annotated minutes), it should be shortened to "Municipality" in the theme (cf. (30));
- Nominal expressions:
  - Begin with a nominalization/eventive noun;

    - The nominalization denoting the main eventuality of the topic markable can be included in the theme (e.g., approval, authorization, granting; cf. (31)-(33)).
    - Special cases: (i) standardize with the nominalization "absence of" whenever the theme refers to the non-occurrence or inexistence of something; (ii) for the verb approve, standardize with the nominalization "approval of";
- Use of capital letters: capitalize the initial letters of names of monuments, temples, and buildings (e.g., Castelo de Ouguela, Sé Catedral do Porto, Museu Arqueológico Municipal José Monteiro), toponyms (e.g., Rua do Castelo, Praça da República, Freguesia da Barroca), and the title Mayor;
- Punctuation: do not include final periods; do not include quotation marks around project names (simplify project/contract designations whenever possible); replace dashes with prepositions whenever possible (cf. (32));
- Acronyms and abbreviations: use well-established acronyms and abbreviations (those widely recognized by the general public or officially adopted by the entities themselves) (cf. (32) and (35)), whenever possible; when no established acronym or abbreviation exists, use the full name of the entity written out in full. In this case, the number of words in the full name is not counted toward the 15-word limit for the theme;
- Other considerations:
    - When the annotated topic includes personal information (e.g., names of individuals), it must be replaced in the theme by "a citizen" or "X citizens" (see section A. Personal Information; section D.3. Theme; cf. (34)). The term "citizen/citizens" should be used regardless of gender, and the number should match the number of people mentioned in the topic;
    - Use the ISO 8601 date format (YYYY-MM-DD) to write dates, when needed.

- D.4. Summary

  In this project, summarization will be carried out on segments of city council meeting minutes, corresponding to subjects discussed during the meeting. Due to their nature, the length of the source texts varies greatly, as does the range of topics addressed. To reduce subjectivity and standardize the format of the summaries, textual models are proposed for annotators to follow.

D.4.1. Defining the summarization task

To summarize a text is to reduce it to its most essential parts, (i) using clear and precise wording; (ii) respecting the meaning, structure, and type of enunciation; (iii) avoiding any element of appreciation or any other comment of a personal nature. In general terms, the key concepts for creating a good summary are:

- Select – remove words or phrases that refer to secondary details, such as comments, examples, quotations, redundant expressions and sentences;
- Generalize – by using hypernyms, synonyms, or encompassing expressions with anaphoric value;
- Reduce – redundancies, periphrasis, entire sentences to adjectives, complements, determiners, pronouns, or adverbs;
- (Re)construct – transform simple sentences into complex ones or replace a set of sentences with a single one that incorporates them.

In a good summary, the source text is not reproduced through the use of identical words, phrases, or entire sentences, with or without quotations, although some key vocabulary may be used. Furthermore, comments, misrepresentations, and personal intrusions by the summary writer should be avoided.

D.4.2. Stages of preparing the summary

In this project, the following steps are suggested for each annotator to produce a summary. (Adapted from Friend, 2002.)

D.4.2.1. Considering the discussion-subject segment

i. Reflect on what the main subject of the text segment you are about to read might be. In principle, it should coincide, wholly or partially, with the theme previously identified in the annotation tool for that segment.
ii. Read the entire text segment.
iii. Think of the segment as a whole. What does it mean? Make sure you fully understand the entire segment.

D.4.2.2. Identifying the main idea

i. Ask yourself two questions: (a) What is the discussion-subject segment about (what is its theme)? (b) What is the message being conveyed?
ii. Your answer will be the central idea of the segment: the idea to which all other ideas expressed in the segment refer.
iii. This idea should be general enough to include all the specific aspects mentioned in the segment, but not so general that it becomes vague.
iv. Write the main idea preferably in your own words. Avoid expressions like 'is about' ("é sobre"), 'deals with' ("trata de"), or 'the way in which' ("a maneira como"). Try to create a synthesis sentence, which will serve as the opening of the summary.
v. This sentence should follow one of the following formats, depending on whether the text segment to be reduced contains any form of positioning (i.e., whether the discussion-subject segment contains information about a formal vote that took place during the meeting):

- Option A-1 (the discussion-subject segment includes some form of positioning):

Agent[1] + verb + Positioning ('by majority' ("por maioria") OR 'unanimously' ("por unanimidade")) + Theme[2]

Example:

(36) [The City Council] [approved] [by majority] [the draft of the program contract to be signed between the municipality of Fundão and the Parish of Castelo Novo].
(PT: [A Câmara] [aprovou] [por maioria] [a minuta do contrato-programa a celebrar entre o município do Fundão e a Freguesia de Castelo Novo].)

- Option B-1 (the discussion-subject segment DOES NOT include some form of positioning):

B1. active sentence (the Agent is identified in the text segment)

[1] The notion of Agent used here corresponds to the semantic function as defined in ISO 24617-4: an entity that purposefully or knowingly starts an event and that exists independently of the event. An agent is typically an animate entity; however, non-animate entities, such as organizations, can also be perceived as agents.
[2] The notion of Theme used here corresponds to the semantic function as defined in ISO 24617-4: a participant in events that is essential for the event to occur, although the event does not structurally change it. It does not control the event, and it exists independently of the event.

Agent + verb + Goal[3] + Theme

Example:

(37) [Councilor X] [informed] [the City Council] [that there were citizens living in appalling sanitary conditions].
(PT: [O Vereador X] [informou] [a Câmara] [de que existiam munícipes a viver em condições sanitárias indignas].)

B2. passive sentence (the Agent IS NOT identified in the text segment)

Goal + verb (passive) + Theme
OR
Theme + verb (passive)

Examples:

(38) [The City Council] [was informed] [that there were residents living in appalling sanitary conditions].
(PT: [A Câmara] [foi informada] [de que existiam munícipes a viver em condições sanitárias indignas].)
OR
[The balance sheet for the calendar year 2024] [was presented].
(PT: [Foi apresentado] [o balancete referente ao ano civil de 2024].)

In the previous schemas, the Theme corresponds to the annotation previously created in INCEpTION. This annotation should be transposed word-for-word into the summary whenever possible—that is, whenever no modification is required due, for example, to the need to integrate the Theme into the syntactic structure of the summary sentence or to the possibility of reducing the number of words used.

List of verbs to be used in the first sentence*:* to say (dizer), to assert (afirmar), to tell (contar), to declare (declarar), to answer (responder), to allege (alegar), to assure (assegurar), to conclude (concluir), to inform (informar), to order (ordenar), to prohibit (proibir), to request (pedir), to invite (convidar), to ask (perguntar), to thank (agradecer), to congratulate (felicitar, dar os parabéns), to welcome (dar as boas-vindas), to regret (lamentar), to complain (reclamar), to refuse (recusar), to commit (comprometer-se), to appoint (to a position) (nomear (para um cargo)), to discharge (exonerar), to approve (aprovar), to declare (declarar), to decide (decidir), etc.

[3] The notion of "Goal" used here corresponds to the semantic function as defined in ISO 24617-4: an entity that corresponds to the end point of an event that is not defined by location or time and that exists independently of the event.

D.4.2.3. Identifying the key supporting ideas

i. Identify subsections within the discussion-subject segment, that is, group sentences/paragraphs that share the same subject. Identify the most important idea of each of these subsections of the segment (these ideas correspond to some form of development of the main idea previously identified.

ii. The most important ideas that develop the main idea are usually reiterated in distinct ways throughout the segment.

iii. Do not annotate details, examples, anecdotes, or digressions; instead, highlight the essential ideas to which these details refer.

iv. The remaining sentences of the summaries must capture the remaining essential information from the discussion-subject segment. The way these sentences should be structured varies depending on whether or not there is a positioning:

- Option A-2 (the discussion-subject segment includes some form of positioning):

The synthesis sentence (first sentence) should be complemented with additional information relevant to understanding the Subject, namely by indicating: (i) the purpose of the deliberation (for what purpose?); (ii) the rationale (reason) behind the deliberation (why?); and (iii) other types of information (when? where? how?…).

Note: this list is merely indicative; what matters most is selecting the essential ideas from the text segment being summarized.

Example:

(39) The Council approved by majority vote the draft of the program contract to be entered into between the municipality of Fundão and the Parish of Castelo Novo. This contract aims at the renovation of the Guard House [for what?]. The decision was based on the arguments put forward in a proposal presented by the Vice President [why?].

(PT: A Câmara aprovou por maioria a minuta do contrato-programa a celebrar entre o município do Fundão e a Freguesia de Castelo Novo. Este contrato destina-se à requalificação da Casa do Guarda. [para quê?]. A deliberação baseou-se nos argumentos invocados numa proposta apresentada pelo Senhor Vice-Presidente. [porquê?])

- Option B-2 (the discussion-subject segment DOES NOT include some form of positioning):

The synthesis sentence (first sentence) could be complemented with additional information relevant to understanding the Subject, namely by indicating (when applicable): (i) when? (ii) where? (iii) for what? (iv) how? (v) why? (vi) other information?

Note: this list is merely indicative; what matters most is selecting the essential ideas from the text segment being summarized.

Example:

(40) The President reported Dispatch No. 3 on the Budgeting and Management of Personnel Expenditures for the year 2023. This dispatch provides information on the projected personnel expenses and on the costs associated with changes in remuneration levels, as well as on the Statement of Payments and Receivables in arrears. The Municipality has no overdue payments. There are some overdue receivables arising from processes related to EU funds, rents, and water service cases. (72 words)
(PT: [O Presidente] Deu conhecimento do seu Despacho n.º 3 sobre a Orçamentação e Gestão das Despesas com Pessoal para o ano de 2023. Trata-se de um despacho que dá informação sobre despesas previstas com pessoal e dos encargos com a alteração de posicionamento remuneratório e também da Declaração de Pagamentos e Recebimentos em atraso. O Município não tem pagamentos em atraso. Há alguns recebimentos em atraso que resultam de processos ligados a fundos comunitários, rendas, processos de águas.)

Summary*:*
The President reported on Despatch No. 3 regarding the Budgeting and Management of Personnel Expenditures for 2023. There are no overdue payments, although there are some overdue receivables. [28 words]
(PT: O Presidente da Câmara informou sobre o Despacho n.º 3 relativo à Orçamentação e Gestão das Despesas com Pessoal para 2023. Não existem pagamentos em atraso, embora haja recebimentos atrasados.)

D.4.2.4. Drafting the summary

i. Draft the summary, starting with the main idea and then including the remaining ideas that in some way develop the main idea.
ii. Do not repeat any information in the summary.
iii. When drafting the summary, the following aspects should be observed:
   - Avoid using direct speech.

- Maintain the verb tenses of the original text.
- Use the third person.
- Respect the proposed word count (typically a percentage of the original text; cf. D.4.3).
- Connect sentences and paragraphs using connectors (or syntactic constructions that mark connections), prioritizing the logical organization of information.

iv. Please note the following rules (specifically designed to standardize minutes summaries):

- Use Mr./Ms. ("Sr./Sr.ª") before the names/titles of meeting participants.
- Always use the phrase "Presidente da Câmara" (Mayor).
- When the text segment describes a proposal, omit its proposer from the summary.
- For dates, use the ISO format (year-month-day).
- When voting takes place, include in the summary the general voting results in the summary (how many votes in favor/against/abstentions).
- When voting takes place, write the phrase summarizing the result in the first sentence of the summary, set off by commas (e.g., "…, by majority, …").
- When the text segment includes any dialogue or a statement by one of the meeting participants, refer to these statements in the summary.
- Try to maintain the basic Portuguese sentence constituents order (SVO), except in cases where this order is altered by a linguistic factor, such as the presence of syntactically heavy constituents.
- When referring to monetary values:
  (i) use numerals;
  (ii) do not use a period to separate the hundreds from the thousands;
  (iii) always include digits for cents;
  (iv) use the euro symbol (€) without leaving a space between the last digit and the symbol.
- For proper names of programs, institutions, etc., use the corresponding acronyms or abbreviations if they are listed in the Dicionário da Língua Portuguesa of Academia das Ciências de Lisboa (https://dicionario.acad-ciencias.pt/). In all other cases, acronyms should not be used (only the full name).
- For names of public institutions, omit the acronym "I.P." or "E.M."
- In cases where the minutes indicate the absence of an action/act, transform the Theme into a sentence.

Example:

(41) Text in the minutes: No permutative budgetary change was put forward for discussion/approval in this item.
(PT: No presente ponto não foi colocado à discussão/aprovação qualquer alteração orçamental permutativa.)
Theme: Absence of a permutative budgetary change
(PT: Ausência de alteração orçamental permutativa)
Proposed summary: There were no changes to the permutative budgetary change.
(PT: Não houve qualquer alteração orçamental permutativa.)

D.4.2.5. Reviewing the summary

i. Review all the previous steps.
ii. Verify that:
   (a) the first sentence expresses the main idea of the entire text segment;
   (b) the remaining sentences express the ideas that develop the main idea (and condense each of the subsections).
iii. Ensure that you have preferably used your own words to express all the ideas from the text segment.
iv. Verify that the summary is well-written and coherent.

D.4.2.6. Evaluating the summary

i. Verify whether the produced summary achieves the highest rating on the following five parameters of the evaluation scale.
ii. If you consider that your summary does not achieve the maximum score for any of the parameters, review the identified issues and determine solutions by rewriting the summary.
iii. In cases where it is not possible to include all the information considered essential in a summary that respects the word limit (see below D.4.3), priority should be given to including essential information in the summary rather than strictly adhering to the word limit.

D.4.3. Components of the Citilink Summarization Evaluation Scale

(Partially adapted from the scale proposed in Li & Wang, 2021)

D.4.3.1. Coverage of ideas

Definition: The number of ideas from the source text included in the summary; a central aspect of a good summary.

3 GOOD: The summary includes about half of the main ideas from the source text.

2 FAIR: The summary includes only some of the main ideas from the source text.

1 POOR: The summary includes only one or none of the main ideas from the source text (if there are more).

C.4.3.2. Integration

4 VERY GOOD: The summary rearranges the order of statements logically and displays good examples of integration and connectors.

3 GOOD: The summary rearranges the order of statements logically and displays moderate examples of integration and connectors.

2 FAIR: The summary basically follows the order of the source text (if the source text is not monothematic and has several paragraphs), with few instances of reordering and integration.

1 POOR: The summary follows the original order of the statements in the source text (if the source text is not monothematic and has several paragraphs) and shows rare examples of appropriate integration and connectors.

Performance level B: Monothematic source texts (with only one idea) and of short length

5 EXCELLENT: The summary shows excellent examples of integration.

4 VERY GOOD: The summary shows good examples of integration.

Definition: Relates to normative aspects of language use and lexical and syntactic variety.

Performance levels:

5 EXCELLENT: The summary displays complete linguistic correctness, syntactic and lexical variety and appropriateness.

4 VERY GOOD: The summary displays complete linguistic correctness, although with some shortcomings in syntactic and lexical variety or appropriateness.

3 GOOD: The summary displays complete linguistic correctness, although with occasional shortcomings in syntactic or lexical variety or appropriateness.

2 FAIR: The summary displays some lapses in linguistic correctness and some shortcomings in syntactic or lexical variety or appropriateness.

1 POOR: The summary displays multiple lapses in linguistic correctness and in syntactic or lexical variety or appropriateness.

D.4.3.4. Use of source text vocabulary

Definition: Relates to the precise and literal use of linguistic expressions from the source text.

Performance levels:

5 EXCELLENT: The summary contains almost entirely the annotator's own words and sentence structures (except for non-substitutable expressions, such as proper names or equivalents, e.g., identification of dispatches), in addition to precise use of information from the source text.

4 VERY GOOD: The summary contains mostly the annotator's own words and sentence structures (except for non-substitutable expressions, such as proper names or equivalents, e.g., identification of dispatches), in addition to precise use of information from the source text.

3 GOOD: The summary partially contains the annotator's own words and sentence structures (except for non-substitutable expressions, such as proper names or equivalents, e.g., identification of dispatches), in addition to precise use of information from the source text.

2 FAIR: The summary partially contains the annotator's own words and sentence structures (except for non-substitutable expressions, such as proper names or equivalents, e.g., identification of dispatches), with instances of imprecise use of information from the source text.

1 POOR: The summary does not contain the annotator's own words and sentence structures.

D.4.3.5. Summary length (does not apply to discussion-subject segments shorter than 60 words)

Definition: Relates to compliance with length limits.

Performance levels:

5 EXCELLENT: The summary meets the following limits – for source texts up to 120 words: 1/2; for source texts between 121 and 160 words: between 1/2 and 1/3; for source texts longer than 160 words: between 1/3 and 1/4.

4 VERY GOOD: The summary exceeds the following limits by 1 to 4 words – for source texts up to 80 words: 1/2; for source texts between 81 and 120 words: between 1/2 and 1/3; for source texts longer than 120 words: between 1/3 and 1/4.

3 GOOD: The summary exceeds the following word limits by 5 to 7 words – for source texts up to 80 words: 1/2; for source texts between 81 and 120 words: between 1/2 and 1/3; for source texts longer than 120 words: between 1/3 and 1/4.

D.4.4. Examples of summaries

D.4.4.1. Alandroal 001_2024 (the underlined parts of the text indicate the key information considered when drafting the summary)

Text to be summarized:

[Visit to a new hospital] The Mayor reported that on the 21st he participated in a visit organized by ARS Alentejo to the construction site of the new Central Hospital of Évora. District mayors were invited, the works and progress were inspected, and it was noted that this is a project of considerable scale, with very serious objectives to serve the entire region. [Specification – medical advantages of the new hospital] It was also mentioned that the new hospital will not only be a reference hospital for healthcare provision throughout the Alentejo region, which means that some highly specialized services will need to be redirected to Lisbon; the majority of healthcare provision will, however, take place within the region. [New specification – economic and social advantages of the new hospital] This aspect is very important, but it should also be noted that the hospital will serve the region in other ways, as it will act as a development anchor: a medical school is planned—the University of Évora is already preparing the application and owns land adjacent to the hospital. A number of biotechnology and healthcare companies are intending to establish themselves near the hospital, turning it into a development hub, both for training and attracting qualified professionals to the region and for attracting high-tech companies, which in turn foster the creation of skilled employment. On this scale, the project is comparable to Alqueva or other major infrastructural projects, creating a significant social and economic dynamic with impact across the entire region. [250 words]

Foram convidados os autarcas do distrito, visitaram-se as obras, a evolução dos trabalhos e trata-se de uma obra de uma dimensão considerável, com objetivos muito sérios de vir a servir toda a região.* [especificação – vantagens médicas do novo hospital] Falou-se também que o novo hospital não vai ser só um hospital de referência no que diz respeito a prestação de cuidados de saúde para toda a região Alentejo, o que significa que algumas especialidades terão que ser reencaminhadas para Lisboa, por serem muito especializadas, a maior parte de toda a prestação de cuidados passará a ser feita na região. [nova especificação – vantagens económicas e sociais do novo hospital] Este aspeto é muito importante, mas há que referir também que o hospital vai servir a região de outra forma pois será uma âncora de desenvolvimento porque está prevista a criação de uma escola de medicina -- a Universidade de Évora já está a preparar a candidatura, já tem os terrenos junto ao hospital -- há já um conjunto de empresas ligadas à biotecnologia e de cuidados de saúde a pretenderem instalar-se na envolvência do hospital, tornando-se num centro de desenvolvimento quer para formar e atrair profissionais qualificados para a região, quer para atrair empresas de tecnologia de ponta, por sua vez potenciadoras de criação de emprego qualificado. Portanto, à sua escala é um projeto comparável ao Alqueva ou outros projetos estruturantes, criando uma dinâmica social e económica muito importante, com impacto em toda a região.)

D.4.4.4. Porto 007_2022

Text to be summarized:
Porto Municipal Trust Recognition Program – recognition of two local accommodation establishments.
Councillor Sérgio Aires stated that he still considers the program lacks sufficient criteria to be accepted. He noted that as long as job stability and social responsibility are not included in the recognition process for this trust seal, he does not consider the trust to be complete.
Regarding the two local accommodations, he emphasized that even if he agreed with the seal, he does not agree that it should be applied to local accommodation establishments. He also pointed out that there is still no regulation in this area, an issue about which the Mayor had expressed concern during the election campaign. He suggested that efforts should be made to establish regulation for local accommodation in the city. He declared that he would vote against it, with a statement of vote (Annex I).
Councillor Ilda Figueiredo stated that she maintains her abstention from the previous meeting, given the difficulty of including all issues related to labor matters and social responsibility in the classification. She considered the existence of a regulation for local accommodation to be fundamental. She also noted that, regarding the previous proposal, she had positive personal experiences in distributing Christmas materials, for example.
The proposal was approved by majority, with one abstention from Councillor of the CDU and one vote against from the Councillor of the BE. [229 words]

O Senhor Vereador Sérgio Aires disse que continua a considerar que faltam critérios neste programa para poder aceitá-lo. Referiu que enquanto a estabilidade laboral e a responsabilidade social não estiverem contemplados no próprio processo de reconhecimento deste selo de confiança não considera que a confiança seja total.
Em relação aos dois alojamentos locais, sublinhou que mesmo que concordasse com o selo não concorda que este seja aplicado a estabelecimentos de alojamento local.
Sublinhou que continuam sem ter um regulamento nesta área, algo sobre o qual o Senhor Presidente, durante a campanha eleitoral, manifestou preocupação. Considerou que deviam tentar concretizar a regulamentação do alojamento local na Cidade.
Declarou que votará contra com declaração de voto. (Anexo I)
A Senhora Vereador Ilda Figueiredo disse que mantém a abstenção da reunião anterior, tendo em conta a dificuldade de incluir todo o problema das questões laborais e da responsabilidade social na classificação.
Considerou fundamental a existência de um regulamento do alojamento local.
Referiu que, em relação à proposta anterior, tem experiências pessoais positivas na distribuição do material de Natal, por exemplo.
Aprovada, por maioria, com 1 abstenção da Senhora Vereadora da CDU e com 1 voto contra do Senhor Vereador do BE.)

- D.5. Subsubject

Definition: set of information subordinated to a subject, intended to frame specific aspects of the subject under consideration, on which there may be independent discussion and a separate voting.

Markable: the text segment that captures the specific subsubject under discussion. To establish the markable, consider the following criteria:

- The segment must occur after the deliberation of the subsubject.
- Annotators must NOT include in the markable the verb expressing the subject's main eventuality; this verb must instead be represented in the Theme through a nominalization (see section D.5.1; cf. (42)).
- Nominalizations referring to the subject's main eventuality may be included in the markable (cf. (42) and (43)).
- If present, the final punctuation mark (colon, semicolon, etc.) is not included in the annotated segment.
- No topic annotation is required for subsubjects.
- Special case: when two or more independent voting events are recorded within the same subject segment, each voting event must be annotated as a separate subsubject (cf. (44)).

Examples (markable underlined):

(42) Deliberation paragraph: It was also unanimously deliberated to grant daily meal support in the amount of €4.77/day to all citizens benefiting from the aforementioned programme (...).

D.5.1. Theme (free text box)

Definition: concise and standardized formulation of the main content of the subsubject in question. The theme must be written as an informative title, based on the content of the annotated segment and on the wording used in the minutes.

Markable: the same text segment as the subsubject. The text should be written in the free text box according to the following criteria:

- Wording — general considerations:
    - Concise and informative titles, up to 15 words;
    - The theme (title) should be constructed to minimize ambiguity, ensuring that it is understandable and easily distinguishable from other annotated subsubjects;
    - Create the theme based on the identified subsubject, using the vocabulary from the minutes whenever possible; when the subsubject's markable does not allow for full contextualization of the theme, draw on the wording used in the agenda item/subject;
    - Favor the use of the most general (holonym) term to identify the object of the subject, without compromising overall understanding;
    - Modifiers that characterize the object of the subsubject in a specific or technical way should be omitted or simplified whenever their inclusion compromises conciseness or exceeds the word limit;
    - Special cases: whenever the phrase "Municipality of [city/municipality name]" refers to the municipality where the meeting takes place (i.e., the municipality of the annotated minutes), it should be shortened to "Municipality" in the theme (cf. (45));
- Nominal expressions:
    - Begin with a nominalization/eventive noun;
    - The nominalization denoting the main eventuality of the topic markable can be included in the Theme (e.g., approval, authorization, granting; cf. (46)).
    - Special cases: (i) standardize with the nominalization "absence of" whenever the theme refers to the non-occurrence or inexistence of something; (ii) for the verb approve, standardize with the nominalization "approval of";
- Use of capital letters: capitalize the initial letters of names of monuments, temples, and buildings (e.g., Castelo de Ouguela, Sé Catedral do Porto, Museu Arqueológico Municipal José Monteiro), toponyms (e.g., Rua do Castelo, Praça da República, Freguesia da Barroca), and the title Mayor;

- Punctuation: do not include final periods; do not include quotation marks around project names (simplify project/contract designations whenever possible); replace dashes with prepositions whenever possible;
- Acronyms and abbreviations: use well-established acronyms and abbreviations (those widely recognized by the general public or officially adopted by the entities themselves) (cf. (47)), whenever possible; when no established acronym or abbreviation exists, use the full name of the entity written out in full. In this case, the number of words in the full name is not counted toward the 15-word limit for the theme;
- Other considerations:
    - When the annotated subsubject includes personal information (e.g., names of individuals), it must be replaced in the theme by "a citizen" or "X citizens" (see section A. Personal Information; cf. (48)). The term "citizen/citizens" should be used regardless of gender, and the number should match the number of people mentioned in the topic;
    - Use the ISO 8601 date format (YYYY-MM-DD) to write dates, when needed.

E. Voting

I. Entity structures

- E.1. Voting evidence

Definition: linguistic expression indicating that a formal decision was made by means of a vote, including majority, unanimous, or other forms of deliberation that mark the outcome of the decision made by the institutional entity exercising the right to vote. The annotation of the vote allows for the textual identification of the moment in which the formal decision of the municipal executive is expressed, regardless of whether the voters are linguistically represented in the text (cf. (50) and (51)).

Markable: main verb, nominal or participial expression indicating that a vote took place.

Examples (markable underlined):

(49) Considered and analyzed the subject, the Municipal Executive unanimously deliberated to approve the architectural project relating to construction process no. 20/21 - EDIFIC.

Special case #1: voting by secret ballot

- In cases of voting by secret ballot, annotators must: mark the expression 'secret ballot' as markable and identify it with the label voting method. Annotators must also mark the number of votes in favor, against, or blank as markable, with the label tally. The tally should be linked to voting evidence through the existing link structures of 'in favor', 'against' or 'blank'.

(52) In a secret ballot [voting method] vote, approved [voting evidence], with 7 votes in favor [tally] and 6 blank votes [tally].

(PT: Em votação por escrutínio secreto [método de votação], aprovada [votação], com 7 votos a favor [contabilização] e 6 votos em branco [contabilização].)

Special case #2: no vote associated with the subject

- In cases where there is no vote associated with the subject, annotators must annotate "vote" (PT: votação) and "ratification" (PT: ratificação) as markables of voting_evidence and, accordingly, establish the corresponding links (see examples (52) and (53), above and below).

- E.2. Voter

Definition: the institutional entity that exercises the right to vote in a given City Council deliberation.

Markable: corresponds to the complete noun phrase, including determiners/quantifiers and noun complements (in the form of prepositional phrases). In cases where the voter is NOT linguistically expressed in the text of the resolution (cf. (50), (51) and (55)), an empty markable should be inserted (SHIFT + mouse click in INCEpTION) immediately to the right of the corresponding vote markable (see Figure 2).

Annotation case: if the voter is not explicitly provided for the subsubject, annotators must NOT annotate it. In such cases, after annotating the subsubject markable and writing its corresponding theme, annotators must:

(i) Establish an object of vote_link (see below, II.) between the voting evidence and the subsubject; and
(ii) Establish a related to_link (see section D.8) between the subsubject and its higher-level subject.

Examples (markable underlined):

(54) The Municipal Executive deliberated by majority, with the votes in favor of those elected by PS and the abstention of the member elected by Nós, Cidadãos.
(PT: O Executivo Municipal deliberou por maioria, com os votos a favor dos eleitos pelo PS e a abstenção da eleita pelo Nós, Cidadãos.)

- E.3. Non-voter

  Definition: the individual institutional entity that does NOT exercise the right to vote in a given City Council deliberation.

  Markable: corresponds to the full name of the individual institutional entity with voting rights, excluding professional or honorific titles such as "Ms. Councilor", "Dr.", "Eng.", "Prof.", etc.

  Annotation note: include the text segment identifying the non-voting entity within the boundaries of the subject (cf. (56)). When this is not possible and the information occurs outside the subject boundaries (cf. (57)), a positioning – non-present link should be established between the non-voting entity markable and the corresponding deliberation markable.

- E.4. Global tally

Definition: the unit representing the collective vote of all or part of the set of voters.

Markable: corresponds to the full prepositional phrase expressing the form of approval of the resolution, which may occur:

- Explicitly: through "unanimously" (PT: por unanimidade) or "by majority" (PT: por maioria) (cf. (58) and (59));
- Implicitly: through other expressions indicating the totality or majority of voters (e.g., "by all those present" (PT: por todos os presentes); cf. (60)), including cases of secret ballots in which the global tally (unanimously/by majority) is not explicitly stated in the text, but inferred from the voting results (e.g., "7 votes in favour and 6 blank votes" (PT: 7 votos a favor e 6 votos em branco); cf. (61)).

Annotation case: if the global tally is not explicitly provided for the subsubject, annotators must NOT annotate it. In such cases, after annotating the subsubject markable and writing its corresponding theme, annotators must:

(i) Establish an object of vote_link (see below, II.) between the voting evidence and the subsubject; and

(ii) Establish a related to_link (see section D.8) between the subsubject and its higher-level subject.

II. Link structures

- E.5. object of vote_link

Definition: relation identifying the content or subject of the vote. Links the voting evidence markable to the corresponding subject, indicating what is being decided/deliberated.

Directionality: from the voting evidence to the subject/subsubject.

Annotation note: Whenever the global tally and the voters are not explicitly mentioned within the subsubjects, these elements will be inferred from the annotation of the subject.

- E.6. voting_link

Definition: relation representing the position of a voter regarding a specific vote. Links the voter to the voting evidence markable with one of the following values:

- in favour
- against
- blank
- abstention
- not present

Directionality: from the voter to the voting evidence.

Annotation note: In the case of a voting by secret ballot, annotators must establish the voting_method link between voting evidence and secret ballot markables (see Figure 3 below; cf. (52)).

- E.7. result_link

  Definition: relation indicating the global outcome of the vote, as expressed by the form of approval ("unanimously" or "by majority"). Links the global tally to the voting evidence markable with one of the following values:
  - unanimously
  - by majority

  Directionality: from the global tally to the voting evidence.
